The Principle of the Control of the continues.

The situation between the United States and Germany with regard to the Lusitania remains a mystery. It is understeed that the German Ambassador has found a formula to satisfy President Wilson, but that the consent of the Wilhelmstrasse has yet to be obtained for its use. Whatever decision may be reached, it will not alter the determination of Great Britian to exact reparation for the outrage after the war. It is understood that the Government has communicated to the United States Government its intention to exact full indemnity for every ton of shipping destroyed. Eight hundred thousand tons of destroyed British shipping will have to be replaced before a German ship is allowed to sail the seas unless Germany can pay in cash. If this could be made clear in Germany, it would probably affect the appreciation of submarune piracy.

It is hoped that the President of the Board of Trade will be able to make a full statement regarding the mercantile marine when the House meets, for it is time that the people of the country were told in plain words why it is necessary that supplies should be reduced. Lord Curzon's Committee are taking all possible steps to co-ordinate the movements of ships, and thus increase the supply of working tonnage. Already a sensible improvement has been effected by the release of coaling ships for the supplying of the Far Eastern shipping now going by the Cape. It is hoped that the freights on coal to France and Italy will be reduced, and thus case the serious fuel situation in both countries.

At Westminster Cathedral to-morrow morning Cardinal Bourne will be present at a Mass to calchards.
